This educational program is for young hematologists specializing in treating patients with multiple myeloma, chronic lymphocytic leukemia, or mantle cell lymphoma

The European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (EACCME) has awarded 9 European CME credits (ECMEC) for this activity

Dear Colleague

It is our pleasure to invite you to participate in the Hematology Experience Exchange Meeting being held on 8-9 October 2015 in Alcalá de Henares (near Madrid), Spain.

The Hematology Experience Exchange Meeting will combine a mix of interactive sessions providing scientific and clinical updates on topics relating to multiple myeloma, chronic lymphocytic leukemia, and mantle cell lymphoma, linked with workshops focusing on a range of professional development skills.

An expert faculty will guide the program, ensuring that all aspects are relevant to clinical practice and to developing best practices for professional communications.

Educational objectives

After participating in the Hematology Experience Exchange Meeting you should be able to:

- Discuss new developments in the management of hematological malignancies with a focus on chronic lymphocytic leukemia/mantle cell lymphoma/multiple myeloma
- Apply the learnings from the non-clinical professional skills workshops to enhance current practice.

During the meeting you will be able to create your own program of activities, attending three scientific workshops and two professional skills sessions.
